

Room 13 Inquiry

Documentary Premiere and Website Launch

Tuesday 20th of June 2017

Time 12 noon – 1.30pm

Draíocht, Dublin 15

You are invited to meet and dialogue with the artists and students involved in Room 13 Inquiry - a dynamic investigation into the potential of shared art studio spaces in school settings.

Room 13 Inquiry has evolved in two primary schools in Fingal since its inception in 2014. It includes the provision of a dedicated art studio space, an artist in residence, and a series of exhibition and artists' studio visits for each school.

We engaged filmmaker Kilian Waters to capture the activities of the students and artists over the course of six weeks this academic year. We now invite you to attend the premiere of this documentary film at 12noon on 20/06/17 in Draíocht.

Following the screening, students will share and launch our newly commissioned website www.room13inquiry.ie. Designed by New Graphic, this website captures some of the intelligent and honest conversations between the students in response to the art that they've made and encountered during this three year project.

The celebration will take place in the presence of the Mayor of Fingal, and Mr. Paul Reid, Chief Executive of Fingal County Council, and Helen O'Donoghue, Head of Engagement & Learning Programmes at the Irish Museum of Modern Art.

We would be delighted if you could attend the event. Please rsvp to julie.clarke@fingal.ie or telephone 01 8905960

Room 13 Inquiry is an initiative of Fingal County Council's Arts Office in partnership with Tyrrelstown Educate Together N.S., Scoil Bhríde Cailini N.S., artists Orla Kelly and Anne Cradden with support from Draíocht and the Arts Council of Ireland.
